NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.
New York, April 7.—Very little interest was manifested in cotton futures by either professionals or outside investions to-day. This apathy was, as during the earlier part of the week, due chiefly to indefinite and continued contradictory news concerning the progress of the crop preparations and the conditions of the plant, where out of the ground. Weather news was also conflicting, while English cables noted more oy less hesitation in the future market, Our market opened steady at an advance of 2 to 3 points, this improvement following the appearance of a few Southern buying orders and quite bullish initial English cables. Later cables proved less encouraging, which, with a withdrawal of New Orleans support, together with reports of a failure in Wall street, caused a reaction to last night's figures. The sensational phases of the stock market fiself attracted considerable individual interest among the cotton trade, but the with the southwestern States, and in the old portlons of the belt, preparations were being retarded by rains.

The forecasts held out some encouragement to the bear faction, however, clearer conditions being indicated, atthough frosts were again reported in the northern portion of the belt for fornight, The crop movement was slightly smaller than anticipated, the week's changes in the statistical situation were prefty much as reported and information from Southern spot markets was much the same as that of the past few days. The market closed steady, not unchanged to three points higher.
